

Cable tray vertical support cable price

Article Overview

Vertical supports for cable trays typically range from $1 to over $200 per unit, depending on material, size, and supplier.

Price Overview

- Low-cost options: Basic vertical supports, such as simple aluminum or wire mesh brackets, can start as low as $0.80 to $5 per piece when purchased in bulk from suppliers like Alibaba . These are suitable for light-duty applications or temporary installations.
- Mid-range options: Zinc-plated steel or electro-galvanized supports, compatible with threaded rods and standard cable trays, generally cost $20 to $50 per unit. For example, Kable Kontrol vertical tray holders on Amazon are priced in this range and are NEC-approved for network and fiber optic cabling .
- High-end or industrial-grade supports: Heavy-duty vertical supports, including electro-galvanized steel brackets from Atkore or Platt Electric Supply, can range from $100 to $226 per unit, depending on dimensions, load capacity, and finish . These are designed for large industrial or commercial installations with high cable loads.

Material Considerations

- Steel: Offers excellent strength and load capacity, often galvanized to resist corrosion. Ideal for industrial facilities and high-rise buildings .
- Aluminum: Lightweight, corrosion-resistant, suitable for medium-duty applications in commercial buildings or coastal environments .
- Wire Mesh: Provides ventilation and easy cable access, commonly used in data ce...
