

French manufacturer of complete electrical distribution boxes

Article Overview

Key French manufacturers include Schneider Electric, COMECA Group, and distributors like YESSS Électrique and One-Elec, offering a wide range of electrical distribution solutions.

Schneider Electric

Schneider Electric is a leading French industrial group specializing in energy management and automation solutions. They offer a comprehensive range of low-voltage distribution boards, modular boxes, and industrial electrical cabinets suitable for residential, commercial, and industrial applications. Popular product lines include Opale, Kaedra, Pragma, and Prisma, covering everything from wall-mounted boxes to high-power industrial cells. Their products feature circuit breakers, fuses, grounding bars, and modular connectivity, ensuring safety and compliance with regulations, and are widely available through distributors like One-Elec .

COMECA Group

COMECA Group focuses on energy management solutions, providing low and medium voltage switchgear and distribution boards. Their systems are designed for real-time monitoring and energy efficiency, supported by applications like ecoNRJ-Management, which allows operators to manage electrical distribution systems effectively
