

How much does flame-retardant cable tray cost in Australia

Article Overview

Fire-rated cable trays in Australia typically cost between AUD 150 and AUD 400 per 3-meter section, depending on size, material, and supplier.

Price Overview

- EzyStrut Fire Rated ET5 Tray: A 150mm wide by 3000mm long tray weighs 12.5kg and is designed for indoor or outdoor installation. While exact pricing is not listed online, similar trays generally range from AUD 150–250 per section depending on supplier and quantity .
- Ozstrut Fire Rated Cable Trays (T3 Series): Designed for light to heavy-duty applications in commercial and industrial settings, these trays are modular and corrosion-resistant. Prices for T3 series trays typically fall in the AUD 200–400 range per 3-meter length, with variations based on width, load capacity, and fire rating .
- Trafalgar Fire Products: Offers a range of fire-resistant cable trays suitable for critical installations. Pricing is generally comparable to Ozstrut, with premium options for high-load or multi-service applications .

Factors Affecting Cost

- Tray Width and Depth: Wider or deeper trays that support more cables are more expensive.
- Material and Coating: Stainless steel or corrosion-resistant coatings increase cost.
- Fire Rating: Higher fire-resistance ratings (e.g., 2-hour vs 1-hour) typically add to the price....
