

Kenya Well Logging Optical Cable Manufacturer

Article Overview

Fibercore and select Kenyan fiber optic suppliers provide well logging optical cables suitable for industrial and energy applications.

Key Manufacturers and Suppliers

- Fibercore Fibercore specializes in fiber optic cables for well logging, including wireline and slickline logging cables, as well as surface cables. These cables are designed to measure distributed temperature, acoustic energy, and strain, and can integrate with telemetry systems and fiber Bragg gratings (FBGs) for precise monitoring in oil, gas, and geothermal wells. Their products are engineered for robustness and long-term reliability in harsh environments, making them ideal for Kenya's energy and industrial sectors .
- EAC (East African Cables) EAC is Kenya's oldest and largest cable manufacturer, producing both electrical and optical cables. While primarily focused on telecom and industrial applications, they supply high-quality optical fiber solutions that can be adapted for specialized measurement and monitoring projects .
- CP Cables Ltd CP Cables offers a wide range of fiber optic products, including ADSS and drop cables suitable for outdoor and industrial installations. Their products are designed for durability and high-speed data transmission, which can support telemetry and monitoring systems in well logging setups .
- Guangdong Yitong Fiber Optical Cable Manufacturer Although based in China, Yitong exports to Kenya and provides weather-resistant, low-attenuation optical cables such as GYXTW, GYTS, ADSS, and OPGW. These cables are suitable for harsh environmental conditions, which is critical for well logging operations in diverse Ken...
