

Price of standard electrical distribution boxes in Venezuela

Article Overview

Electrical distribution boxes in Venezuela typically range from $2.3 for basic imported units to several hundred dollars for fully equipped residential or industrial panels.

Overview of Pricing

The average import price for electrical boards, panels, and cabinets in Venezuela was reported at $2.3 per unit in 2024, reflecting basic imported units without extensive internal components or installation costs . This represents the lower end of the market, often corresponding to simple enclosures or shells. For residential or industrial-grade distribution boxes, prices vary significantly depending on:

- Material of the enclosure: Plastic, powder-coated steel, or stainless steel can dramatically affect cost .
- Internal components: Circuit breakers, surge protectors, busbars, and smart monitoring systems increase the price .
- Capacity and features: Larger panels with more circuits or advanced load management systems cost more .
- Installation and labor: Professional installation in Venezuela can add substantial costs, especially for complex setups .

Typical Price Ranges

- Basic residential panels: $50-$150, often including standard breakers and a metal...
