

Where can I buy electrical distribution boxes in Africa

Article Overview

Electrical distribution boxes in Africa are primarily manufactured in South Africa by companies such as Allbro, Twodigits Trading, Switchboard Group, Gem Switchgear, and Golnix.

Key Manufacturers in South Africa

Allbro produces a wide range of non-metallic enclosures, including brands like York, Okari, Enlec, Utilec, PSO1, and PSO2, all manufactured locally in South Africa to international standards, suitable for industrial, commercial, and residential applications. Twodigits Trading supplies domestic and industrial distribution boards, offering surface, flush, and floor-mounted options with mild or stainless steel weatherproof enclosures rated from IP44 to IP65. Switchboard Group designs, manufactures, and installs electrical boards across Southern Africa and internationally. They specialize in low and medium voltage products and provide turnkey solutions for various industries. Gem Switchgear manufactures a comprehensive range of low and medium voltage switchgear, including motor control centers, main and small distribution boards, and programmable controller cubicles. Their products are tested to SABS IEC standards and exported to neighboring countries. Golnix, based in George (Southern Cape), produces low voltage polyethylene, glassfibre, and steel metering and distribution kiosks, supplying throughout South Africa, Namibia, and other African countries.
