

Who are the suppliers of optical modules

Article Overview

The leading global suppliers of optical modules include II-VI (Finisar), Innolight, Huawei (HiSilicon), Hisense Broadband, Eoptolink, Accelink, and Cisco, with Chinese companies increasingly dominating the market.

Top Global Suppliers

- II-VI Incorporated (acquired Finisar) – A major U.S.-based supplier, II-VI leads in optical module technology and market share, particularly after acquiring Finisar, a former top-ranked optical module company .
- Innolight Technology (Zhongji Innolight) – A China-based high-speed optical module provider, Innolight specializes in datacom modules for cloud data centers and telecom networks, including 100G, 200G, 400G, and 800G modules .
- Huawei (HiSilicon) – Huawei manufactures optical modules for 5G fronthaul, midhaul, and backhaul networks, as well as high-end coherent DWDM modules. Despite U.S. trade restrictions, Huawei continues to invest in local supply chains .
- Hisense Broadband – Ranked among the top five suppliers, Hisense focuses on optical communication solutions for telecom and broadband networks .
- Eoptolink – A Chinese company providing high-performance optical modules and devices for ICT industries, including data centers, FTTx, LTE, and smart grids .
- Accelink – Another Chinese supplier, Accelink offers a wide range of optical modules and components, maintaining a strong presence in both domestic and international markets .
- Cisco – Through acquisitions of Acacia and Luxtera, Cisco has entered the optical module market, providing modules integrated with its networking equipment .
